VERMONT.

Vermont leads the column, and the victory is complete and overwhelming. The returns as given elsewhere indicate that even the most sanguine expectations of the Republicans have been more than realized. They show very large Republican gains and Democratic losses, which clearly prove that the drift of things is irresistibly and terribly against Democracy. It was a fair field and a square fight, and the result is one which shows the weakness of TILDEN and his followers. The Republicans have done well and deserve all praise. As a prelude to November, this result in Vermont is especially significant.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

—Vermont and victory.

—George Smith, the Assyrian explorer, is dead.

—Economy at Newport seems to have been the rule this season.

—Suicide in England is more prevalent among the educated classes than among the ignorant.

—John Bright will not come to this country before 1878, and when he comes will lecture only in the large cities.

—There is no sutler with General Crook's command. There are occasions when 600 per cent. profit is no temptation.

—The thriving town of Methuen, Mass., will celebrate next Thursday with great pomp and circumstances its 150th anniversary.

—The Crown Prince and Princess of Prussia, and President MacMahon, of France, have been interchanging civilities as Andermatt.

—It is rumored that Carl Rosa will make a short tour in America with his English Opera troupe, opening at the New York Academy in February.

—Mrs. A. T. Stewart will soon return from Europe, whither she went to escape begging letters. The palace on Fifth avenue is tenanted only by servants.

—Commodore Vanderbilt, who never missed driving out of a Sunday while he could hold the reins, is said to be missed by the horses as well as the sportsmen.

—In Paris a Polish gentleman has been sentenced to three months' imprisonment for dogging the footsteps of a French officer and singing down "The German Rhine."

—It is on such mornings as these that the belle of the watering place comes forth with blue lips and a pink nose, and realizes what it is to feel like a damp cinder.

—Dickens and Pickwick are no more, but Samuel Weller, Jr., still lives. He registered at Willard's Hotel in Washington last week, and named England as his abiding place.

—Mr. John B. Gough is the owner of four large volumes, in which are written the signatures of 140,000 persons who have taken the pledge of temperance at his hands.

—One object of Martin Farquhar Tupper's present visit to the United States is said to be that he may personally superintend the preparation of a new edition of his "Proverbial Philosophy."

—The precise figures and particulars of Gov. Tilden's income tax are now published. If there are any facts to offset the indications of these figures, it is high time for Gov. Tilden to furnish them.—New York Tribune.

—The soda water man is looking blue; so is the chap who runs an ice house. On the other hand, the individual who had a stock of ulsters left over from last winter has been dancing a rigadoon of joy in front of his store door.

—It is probably that Weeden, the prize-fighter, will be tried in New Jersey, for the murder of Walker. There is one advantage of being tried in that State for such a crime. It stimulates a man to discount all chances and make his will.

—The London Spectator has startled its readers with this opinion: "Mr. Disraeli has moral and intellectual defects of the gravest kind,—such defects that his permanent removal from power would be a cause of thankfulness alike to Great Britain and the world."

—The season is about four weeks earlier than usual in one thing. A Chester county editor has already commenced to throw out hints that a Thanksgiving turkey from one of his subscribers would not be refused. There seems to be no "decline" in journalism after all.

—Rapid transit in Paris is a fixed fact. A narrow-gauge railroad runs almost entirely round the city, connecting with some of the principal centers. The Parisians do not believe in encouraging capitalists to put their money in an enterprise and then swindle them out of it by suits for damages, as some New Yorkers are doing.

—Mr. J. P. Clum, Indian agent at Tucson, Arizona, is on the way East with a party of twenty of Apache Indians, four of whom are women, to give exhibitions in the large cities. One of them is "Taza," said to be the son of the noted Apache chief Cochise. He says "Apache very poor now; get no guns, no powder; Crook got 'em all."

—Danbury News: A pair of linen pants with both legs grasped in the hand is a capital thing with which to drive flies from a room, because one leg will occasionally slip from its mooring and the circuit it performs is entirely unexpected to the dodging fly, and is pretty sure to scoop him him in. N. B.—The mantel ornaments should be of cast iron, and firmly screwed to the wall.

—The shot gun policy is at work in Louisiana. We would suppose from the tenor of the dispatches that it is the negroes who have adopted it; but the experience of the past does not justify the assumption that the negroes are ambitious to provoke the hostility of the whites. If they fight at all, it is only when made desperate; and even then the outcome is a massacre in which negroes are the only victims.

—A water nymph, by name Ida Steele, of Bloomington, Ill., has challenged her sex generally for a ten-mile swim down the Mississippi river. A Miss Pauline has accepted the challenge, and so has a third young lady; and the match, it is stated, will certainly come off at an early day. It is predicted that "there will not be steamboats enough to contain the crowds that will flock to see the sport."

—The great increase in the attendance in the public schools this year over all previous years may not be an evidence of increased efficiency so much as of the hard times, which have compelled the withdrawal of thousands of children from private establishments; but it ought to prove a great incentive toward making our common schools in every way worthy of their foundation and of the city which endows them.

—The assumption by the Queen of the title "Indiæ Imperatrix" will be proclaimed at Delhi on the 1st of January next before an Imperial assemblage of all the Governors, Lieutenant-Governors, Heads of Government, Princes, Chiefs and nobles. If circumstances permit, 15,000 British and native troops will be present. The Viceroy will make his entry into Delhi on the 26th of December. The week will be observed as a general holiday.

—At a meeting of the log-owners and lumber-men, held at St. Paul on the 1st inst., it was stated that up to the present time the mills have manufactured 93,000,000 feet of logs. There remained in the river about 81,000,000 feet of logs, of which probably not more than from 60,000,000 to 65,000,000 can be manufactured before the season closes. In the boom above the city are 81,000,000 feet, which will be left undisturbed until Obtober 1st.

—The New York Express says that the following is Tilden's "methodical plan," laid out some time ago: 1. To raise the standard of reform on Tweed thieves. 2. To be Governor of the State of New York. 3. To be President of the United States. 4. If elected President to marry and honor a daughter of the late Professor S. F. B. Morse with his heart and hand, and to preside at the White House." He has begun, ungallantly, at the wrong end and will only get half through.

—Shocking of Ann Eliza's latest movement the New York Tribune says: "There have been many indications of an end, not far away, of the most arrogant and absurd of the Mormon pretentions, but this is about the most notable sign which we have had of its decay as a State religion. The Gentile sheriff is at last dominant in the sacred Salt Lake City. Law triumphs over special illumination, and order over even the most nonsensical revelations. We see something more than the beginning of the end; the numerous homes of Brigham are as yet undesolated, but the coming events cast a good many shadows of coming troubles into the empty stalls of his stables."

—Restaurant keepers in New York are still engaged in the work of cutting down their price lists. It is an unpleasant task, but a necessary one. In the case of these men, it is literally half a loaf or no bread—they must keep their customers or put up the shutters. The World says that during the past year the number of restaurants which have adopted the table d'hote system has increased rapidly, and they are patronized by thousands whose custom formerly went to the other places. But there is still room for amendment in the scale of prices—especially in Brooklyn, where the tariff is often in the inverse ratio of the quality.

NEWS FROM ABROAD.

The War in the East.

MORE TURKISH BRUTALITY.

Servians Suppressing the Truth About the Result of the Late Battle—The Question of Interference Discussed in England—Fight Between British and Natives on the Coast of Africa.

TURKEY.

LONDON, September 5.—From the mass of conflicting dispatches from the seat of war, it is possible to summarize the military situation there as follows: Tchernayeff and the bulk of the Servian army are at Deligrad, and Alexinatz, if not abandoned, is held only by a small force, which the Turks will not hesitate to leave in their rear, in case operations are not suspended shortly. The march of the Turks upon Kruzvatz would render Deligrad untenable, and the Servian army is in no condition to fight the Turks on equal terms. Despite the attempts to diminish the importance of Friday's battle, it was undoubtedly a total and disastrous defeat to the Servians, accompanied by heavy losses in killed and wounded.

A Belgrade special says no commodity is so distasteful there now as the truth. A correspondent of a Breslau paper was set upon and beaten on Monday, for saying he had heard there was bad news from the front. Subordinate officers go about endeavoring to convey to the excited people the impression that Friday's battle resulted in a Servian victory, but the Government is fully sensible of the situation and that it cannot much longer remain unknown to the population.

BELGRADE, September 5.—A member of the Red Cross Society has been brutally murdered by Turks, who cut off his arm bearing the Red Cross badge.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, September 5.—At a large meeting in Rockdale, to protest against Turkish atrocities, a letter from John Bright was read, in which he says: "But for the confidence caused by the support of England, the Turks would not have dared to commit the horrid crimes of which they have been guilty in Bulgaria. England should clear itself of all partnership in the interests and policy of Turkey. It is a partnership unnecessary to our interests, and degrades us in the estimation of every Christian nation."

The Times' Vienna correspondent says the military situation is greatly in favor of the Turks should diplomatic action fail to secure a suspension of hostilities. It is almost the universal expression of the leading press of Europe that Turkey cannot make too many or too ready concessions to public opinion if she would preserve her position in Europe in the face of the strong feeling excited by the Bulgarian massacres. One most important element in this question is the demonstrations now being made in England against Turkey. The feeling is becoming so strong and unmistakable that the friends of the Government likewise are taking up the cry and seeking to prevent the question becoming a party one. A pamphlet on the subject by Gladstone will be published this week. Earl Russell again writes a letter, calling for an autumn session of Parliament.

A letter from the Bishop of Manchester, calling upon the people of the nation to subscribe for the relief of the Bulgarians, contains the following:

"Come what may, and I do not see anything that is likely or even possible to come which can endanger the position of England, it seems impossible, if we are to have any regard for our honor or our good name, that we should any longer throw or even allow it to be supposed we throw the shield of protection of England over a power which, relying on that protection, has done deeds which have startled and shocked the conscience of the whole civilized world."

The Times to-day, in leading articles, argues it is fallacy to say Turkey is an independent member of the European system. The right of neutral powers to intervene in her affairs was long ago established. We have not morally only, but as a matter of international law, the right to see that justice is done the Porte's Christian subjects. All that is permanent in the English policy in the East may be summed up in a sentence: "That we desire to reduce to a minimum the disturbance involved in a very inevitable change. If Lord Derby would know, in short, what Englishmen want, it is to cease from the vain repetitions of the language of tradition, and to come to an agreement with the Czar on terms of peace, which the two powers can press with irresistible authority on the Sultan or his Ministers."

The Pall Mall Gazette apprehends that Servian reliance on Russian aid has been so palpable throughout that Russia will be almost compelled to protect her now, and may interfere in such a manner as to provoke a general war. This is the only danger. The Turks will surely listen to English counsel if the negotiations are not defeated by Russian demands in excess of the Porte's patience. Meanwhile an armistice, at least, may be regarded as certain.

AFRICA.

LONDON, September 6.—A special from Madecia says intelligence is received there of an outbreak of hostilities on the West coast of Africa. A British expedition, consisting of three ships under Commodore Bruce, ascended the river Niger, and had a conflict with natives. Several villages were burned and a number of Englishmen wounded.

SPAIN.

LONDON, September 5.—A special from Madrid to the Standard says the Government has ordered all the native and foreign Protestant chapels, Bible societies and schools to immediately remove all external signs, placards and inscriptions indicating their faith. The foreign societies have protested to their respective embassies.

A Paris special says ex-Queen Isabella will return there for the winter.

RUSSIA.

VIENNA, September 5.—The Russian journal Ruski Mir has been suspended for three months on account of a warlike article, in which the Emperor's attention was called to the dangers of agitation.

CENTENNIAL GREETINGS.

President Grant's Reply to Emperor William's Letter of Congratulation.

WASHINGTON, September 5.—The following is the full text of the President's reply to the Emperor of Germany's letter of congratulation on the occasion of the centenary of American independence:

Ulysses S. Grant, President of the United States of America, to William, Emperor of Germany, King of Prussia, &c., &c.:

Great and good friend: Your letter of June 9th, in which you were pleased to offer your cordial congratulations upon the occasion of the Centennial anniversary which we have recently celebrated, was placed in my hands on the 4th of July, and its contents were perused with unfeigned satisfaction. Such expressions of sympathy for the past progress of this country, and of good wishes for its further welfare as are contained in that communication, are more gratifying because they proceed from the head of a great Empire, with which this republic, during the whole century of its existence, has maintained relations of peace and friendship which have been conspicuous alike in prosperity and in adversity, and have become continually firmer with the increasing progress and prosperity of both countries. It is my sincere desire that this mutual cordiality and this prosperity, which have been the lot of the two countries during the first century of our independence, may be vouchsafed to them during the century which is to come.

Wishing you a long reign of health and happiness, I pray God that He may have your Majesty in His safe and holy keeping.

U. S. GRANT.

By the President.
HAMILTON FISH, Secretary of State.
WASHINGTON, July 18, 1876.

Upholding Law Officers.

NEWARK, September 5.—In the Essex County Court to-day, Judge Depue charged the Grand Jury concerning the killing of the Thirlhams, that the law does not hold responsible those taking the life of parties escaping from the action of the law. This is at variance with the verdict of the Coroner's Jury.

Accidental Shooting.

OMAHA, Neb., September 5.—A farmer named Brewer took a grist to the Fairmount (Neb.) mill to-day, accompanied by his two children. After he had taken them out he attempted to take a gun from the wagon. The trigger caught and the gun was discharged, the contents shooting both children. The girl cannot recover. The boy may.

THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN.

Massachusetts Republican State Convention.

WORCESTER, September 5.—The Republican State Convention assembled here today. A resolution giving women voice and vote in primary meetings of the party was received with applause and hisses, and referred without debate. Hon. Geo. S. Boutwell was selected as Chairman, and addressed the Convention at great length.

On motion of Geo. F. Hoar, Hon. Alex. H. Rice was nominated for Governor with but a single dissenting voice. Hon. Horton G. Knight was nominated by acclamation for Lieutenant Governor. The ticket was completed by nominating the following by acclamation: H. B. Pierce, Secretary of State; Julius L. Clark, Auditor of State; Charles Endicott, State Treasurer, and Chas. R. Train, Attorney General.

The resolutions adopted ratify the action of the National Convention at Cincinnati; pledge united and earnest support to Hayes and Wheeler; favor a prompt return to specie payment; putting the civil service on the ground of merit and fitness; restoring to the South the blessings of peace, and the enjoyment by all alike of liberty under the law; express gratitude to the retiring President for his military services and maintaining the national honor and credit; arraign the Democratic party for repeating the perilous experiment of sectional organization in the South, founded upon antagonism of race and color, and for duplicity in the financial policy.

In regard to the Democratic candidates for the Presidency, the resolutions say: "Its national candidates, one of them an inflationist and the other guilty of compromising his convictions to conciliate a class whose heresies he knows would lead to financial chaos, are also disciples of that ultra school which before the war admitted the right of a State to secede, and since the war denies the power of the nation to protect the lives and rights of its citizens."

The resolutions pledge the use of every means for the revival of business and trade, simplification of taxation, and prudent husbandry of the public money, and favor such legislation as will promote the causes of education, temperance, labor, and the equal rights of American citizens, irrespective of color.

Joint Debate by Senator Sherman and D. W. Voorhees in Indiana.

CHICAGO, ILLS., September 5.—The Tribune's Columbia City (Ind.) special says according to arrangement Senator Sherman and D. W. Voorhees met in joint debate here to-day in the public square. At least 5,000 people were present, equally divided between the two parties. Senator Sherman opened with a speech an hour long, full of logic and argument. He pointed out the distinctive differences between the Republicans and Democratic parties. He said they existed now as they ever have. The Republican cause was the cause of good government, good morals, public honor and national safety. The Democratic party comprized disloyal and treasonable elements, which are inimicable to law, order and public safety.

In discussing the finance question, he said he was the author of the resumption act, and gladly acknowledged the paternity of that measure. The resumption of specie payments at the earliest possible moment is the only path to prosperity. He believed the national currency could be redeemed on or before the date fixed by the present law. If, however, it should be found impracticable, Congress had plenty of time to take whatever steps may be deemed wise between this and 1879. He arraigned the Democratic party for its hypocrisy and pothering on this question. The St. Louis Convention nominated one hard money and one soft money man, and placed them on a platform which can be construed in different ways. He warned the greenback men not to be deluded into believing Tilden sympathized with them. He discussed the result of the restoration of the Democracy to power, which he declared would be calamitous. Millions would be allowed from the National Treasury for the payment of Confederate claims.

Mr. Voorhees spoke one hour and a quarter. He spoke of the hard times and great financial distress, brought about, he declared, by Republican corruption and incapacity, and predicted a return of prosperity with the return of the Democracy. The Democratic National platform opposed resumption until it is accomplished by the operation of natural laws, while acknowledging gold and silver as the only true basis of currency. He denied the charge that the Democratic party was disloyal. He claimed that the Democratic House had made such a worthy record in reducing expenditures and repealing part of the resumption act that they merited the election of a Democratic President.

Senator Sherman, in reply, reminded Mr. Voorhees that he had omitted mention of Tilden, and analyzed the reduction of the House in appropriation bills.

Mr. Voorhees, in fifteen minutes closing, eulogized Tilden heartily. Both speeches were courteous—Mr. Sherman's more logical, and Mr. Voorhees' more rhetorical.

Republican Meeting in Augusta, Ga.

AUGUSTA, GA., September 5.—Colonel Jonathan Norcross, the Republican candidate for Governor, addressed a mixed meeting at City Hall to-night. The crowd was boisterous to an extent that made it impossible to hear the speaker with satisfaction. He charged the Democratic party with extravagance and incompetency in managing the finances of the State, and asserted that State Treasurer Jones had appropriated from the State Treasury several hundred thousand dollars under the administrations of Gov. Jenkins and Gov. Smith. The crowd interrupted the speaker so often that he terminated his address sooner than he intended.

Election in Delaware.

WILMINGTON, DEL., September 5.—In the election in this city to-day for members of the City Council, the Republicans were successful, carrying eight out of ten wards, and electing nine out of eleven Councilmen. The Republican majority on different candidates varies from 1,045 to 1,200.

The Election in Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, September 5.—Full returns from the election in this county are not yet received. Both sides claim it. There are few returns from outside counties. The vote generally is very full. The Democrats claim the State by from 40,000 to 50,000 majority.

Not for Tilden.

WHEELING, W. VA., September 5.—The Democrat, published at Weston, this State, and hitherto a Democratic journal, came out yesterday in the interest of Hayes and Wheeler.

The Campaign in Florida.

TALLAHASSEE, Sept. 5.—Stearns and Conover, rival Republican candidates for Governor, coalesced to-day, Conover having withdrawn.

Republican Meetings in Terre Haute, Indiana.

TERRE HAUTE, Sept. 5.—The Republicans held very large mass meetings to-day and night. Gen. Benj. Harrison spoke in the afternoon, and Gen. Terry, of New York, at night. Eleven hundred torches were carried at night.

Congressional Nomination in Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, September 5.—The Republicans of the Third District met at Mineral Point to-day, and nominated George C. Hazleton for Congress.

Congressman Piper Explains.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 5.—Congressman Piper arrived this evening. He was escorted to Platt's Hall, where he briefly said the affidavits published charging him with saying he had bought his election were infamous lies manufactured to defeat his election, and that he never heard of the parties whose signatures they bore.

THE INDIAN EXPEDITION.

The Latest from Generals Terry and Crook.

ST. PAUL, September 5.—Intelligence by way of Bismarck is that on the 31st of August Crook was near Glen Dive, south of the Yellowstone, en route to Glen Dive for supplies. Terry was on the north side of the Yellowstone, fifteen miles below Glen Dive, marching toward the Missouri. Eight miles below him the Josephine saw a large fresh trail leading north, which Terry should have struck on September 1st. The Josephine reports thirty inches of water in the Yellowstone on the 30th, with fifteen inches on the rapids, which she passed over at that stage. The Far West is above the rapids, and will winter on the Yellowstone.

The Goss-Allen Prize Fight.

CINCINNATI, September 5.—There are already many strangers in the city, drawn hither by the approaching Goss-Allen mill. The pugilists gave five thousand dollars bail each to-day not to fight in the State of Ohio. Their attendance in Court attracted much attention. It is rumored the fight will occur in Owen county, Ky., on the line of the Louisville Short Line Railroad; also that the crowd in attendance will interfere to prevent Allen from winning the fight. Pool selling to-day was a failure, owing to the absence of bidders.

Failures in New York.

NEW YORK, September 5.—The liabilities of Wm. B. Clark, whose failure was announced last evening, will not exceed fifty thousand dollars.

The liabilities of Randolph Buckley & Co., whose failure was announced yesterday, is said to be over four hundred thousand dollars.

Frederick Wright, wholesale liquor dealer, No. 67 New street, has failed, with liabilities of $100,000; assets $11,000.

The Southern Pacific Railway.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 5.—The last rail on that portion of the Southern Pacific railroad connecting this city with Los Angelos, was laid to-day, at Lang's Station, forty-two miles from Los Angelos, in the presence of a large concourse of spectators, including a party of railroad men, city officials, capitalists, journalists, etc. A force of 5,000 laborers was present, who laid the last thousand feet of track in five minutes. Chas. Crocker, President of the Southern Pacific, completed the work by driving a golden spike with a silver hammer, presented by the city of Los Angelos. At the conclusion of the ceremonies the party continued their journey to Los Angelos, where they will be entertained as guests of the city this evening. The road is now complete to within one hundred miles of the Colorado river, which will probably be reached before the close of the year.

A Bar-room Fight.

ST. LOUIS, September 5.—A special to the Globe-Democrat says John Sutherland and another man went into a saloon in the town of Old La Animas, Colorado, last Saturday, and called for drinks. Two negro soldiers present offered to join them, but the white men objected, and high words ensued. The negroes left, and soon returned with several comrades, armed with carbines, who immediately began firing right and left. Sutherland was shot through the head and instantly killed, and two other white men were wounded. The soldiers then started for the fort, noone daring to interfere with them.

Fatal Explosion at Hell Gate.

NEW YORK, September 5.—This morning shortly before 10 o'clock, a fatal explosion occurred at the Government works at Hell Gate by which three men were killed outright and a number of others were more or less wounded, some quite seriously. It appears that a number of men were employed on a barge, fixing primers for the final explosion, when a premature explosion occurred.

The Ohio State Fair.

COLUMBUS, O., September 5.—The attendance upon the State Fair was comparatively small to-day. The display of cattle is not as large as last year, but finer strains of blood are shown. This is true of sheep. The display of horses is large and fine. The same is true of hogs. The fruit show is immense. The other halls are about the same as last year.

Marine News.

NEW YORK, September 5.—Arrived out—The steamships Bolivar and Oder, from New York.

PLYMOUTH, September 5.—Arrived—The steamship Le Canada, from New York.

SPEECH FROM GOV. HAYES.

He Addresses a Company of Disabled Soldiers—Mass Meeting in Columbus.

COLUMBUS, O., September 5.—The Brown Guards, composed of disabled soldiers from the Soldiers' Home at Dayton, Ohio, on their way to the reunion at Caldwell stopped off here yesterday, and were escorted from the depot by the Columbus Cadets, preceded by the Barracks band, to the Governor's office, where they paid their respects to Gov. Hayes, who in reply to a speech by the chaplain spoke as follows: "Comrades and veterans, you called to see me because I am Governor of the State where your home is, and because I served in the war. Beyond the idea suggested in those facts I cannot, must not go. No citizen can look upon this company and remember what it has done without very strong emotion. I bid you welcome here to this room where the walls are covered with the portraits of my predecessors, except the last one. His portrait is not quite ready or it would have been here. I wish you a happy time at the reunion, your safe return, and I would be pleased to take each of you by the hand before you go."

Gov. Hayes then passed around the room and shook each man by the hand. The men then gave three cheers for the Governor, spelling their name, "Brown," in unison three times, and at the end of each giving a hurrah.

James Lick Again Changing His Mind.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 5.—James Lick has notified the trustees of the Lick fund that he relieves them of their trust, and has appointed a new board, consisting of Abraham Black, President of the Odd Fellows Bank, Chas. M. Plum, merchant, Louis R. Lull, Secretary of the California pioneers, and another name as yet unknown. Lick is understood to be dissatisfied with the old board, because they refuse to expel his son John, who was one of their number who refused to sign certain papers. It is not yet known what action the board will take.

CATALOGUE OF CRIME.

Confession of "Wess" Watts the Thief, Burglar and Fratricide.

For a number of years the counties of Jefferson, Clarion, Clearfield and Armstrong this State were infested by an organized gang of thieves and cut throats, who became so bold and daring in their villainy as to be a terror to the people of the district named. The last of their operations in that locality was about six months, since, at which time detective Furlong, of the Allegheny Valley Railroad Company started to work on the case and has succeeded in arresting since that time the following members of the gang: Fred. Coon, Andy Van Milder, alias, Miller, Horace Edwards, Joseph Long, Mrs. Brooks and J. W. Watts, who are all in jail at Brookville awaiting trial. The ringleader or chief of the gang, "Wess" Watts, according to his own confession, is one of the most unmitigated scoundrels unhung. He was arrested in Shawneetown, Illinois, by Mr. Furlong, who traced him to that place from Paducah, Kentucky, where he had left his wife and child, taking another man's wife with him. He is charged with shooting his brother in the streets of Brookville, and by his own confession was accessory before the fact of the murder of his father. The confession is quite lengthy and was sworn to by Watts in the presence of three witnesses. It relates a number of crimes committed by the gang, of which he was chief, and in speaking of the killing of his father. He says: "I knew that Oliver Brooks was going to shoot James Watts, and it made me very nervous. It made me sick, and I laid down. I got up and started down to tell my father, when I heard a gun-shot, but having an idea of what had occurred, I was very much frightened and was very weak through fear, and did not go into the shanty on the boat, where James Watts and Oliver Brooks were. During this Sunday afternoon Oliver Brooks and James Watts had had some difficulty, and Brooks told us all, except James Watts, that he would shoot James Watts. Alstan told Brooks that he would get my father to play a game of cards by the window, in order that Brooks could slip around and shoot him from the bank of the river through the window, and he did shoot him."

The confession was doubtless made to benefit himself as much as possible. It is alleged that Mrs. Brooks will testify in the approaching trial that Watts himself shot his father, James Watts.

Watts, with the other members of the gang, were arrested at Paducah, Kentucky, and being convicted of larceny, were sentenced to the Penitentiary at Frankfort, in that State, for three years, but were pardoned after serving one year.

Advice to Girls.

An exchange says: "Why will girls run away to get married?" We give it up, answers the Louisville Courier-Journal. But we know a lot here that would be glad enough to stay at home, or jump at the chance to walk off and get married. The boys ain't around asking them like they did—takes more money to run one of them nowadays than it does to run a steamboat, and they can see more fun with a steamboat. Ah! girls, it's your own fault. Swap off your silks and satins for lawns and calicoes; shut up the piano and dive into a wash-tub; throw away your fancy needle-work and tackle a red-hot stove in the kitchen. Instead of receiving Brown, the banker's son, in the parlor, keep your eye skinned for Bill Burns, the blacksmith's son, as he goes home from work, kiss his dirty face through a broken pane of glass in the kitchen window, and after awhile, when he learns his trade, and you know your business, get married, go to housekeeping by yourselves, help each other, live happy, raise a family that will be an honor to your names and credit to themselves, die happy, and the angels will not turn their backs on you up there.

A Proud Ten.

The ten Detroit bootblacks, says the Free Press, who went down to the Exhibition a few days ago, returning yesterday, were received with applause and admiration on their return. Other boys blacked their boots for nothing. They were given the best seats on the postoffice steps, and twice during the day a shake purse was raised to buy two glasses of soda water, which were gulped down pro rata, without reference to age or good clothes. When Big English was asked to give his opinion on the Exhibition, he replied:

"It's the biggest thing in the world. Why, I had more bolognas down there in one day than I ever had here in all my life!"

KING, REED & CO.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1876.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp 47½.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 109⅛.

MCPHERSON'S political hand book for 1876, is now out. The reputation of this manual of political events is now so well established, that it is unnecessary to refer to it in terms of praise. It is a requisite to all who are required to know current facts in political history, and is on the market at a timely period.

INASMUCH as Governor HENDRICKS has flatly denied some of the statements made by Senator MORTON, in his recent speech at Indianapolis, the latter proposes to test his statements with those of HENDRICKS before the same audiences. He proposes that Governor HENDRICKS shall discuss the questions of the day with him before the people. We hope to hear that HENDRICKS will accept.

ATTORNEY GENERAL TAFT has embodied the policy of the administration in a circular to the United States Marshals, directing them to maintain the right of all voters to freely exercise the franchise. There are various opinions as to the effect of the letter, some of those residing at the South thinking that there should be troops enough sent there to enforce protection at once. It is the policy of the administration to see first whether local officials can enforce order and safety; and if not, there will be strength enough sent South to make sure the honest exercise of the right of suffrage. Power will be at command when fully needed.

IT is just possible that more wrath is being expended on SPRIGGS who telegraphed to the Convention to "go on and finish the ticket," when SEYMOUR positively refused to accept the Democratic nomination, than is entirely proper. SPRIGGS merely supplemented what that convention had done when he sought to induce SEYMOUR to do what he had said he would not. The desperation of party chances involved in tendering the nomination under the circumstances was evident and real. Its declination has impressed the party in that State that desperation is upon it, and that the chances are steadily slipping away from Mr. TILDEN and not SPRIGGS alone, but the entire Democratic party is responsible.

THE fearful defeat inflicted on the Servians at Alexinatz puts an end to all hopes of success for the Servian cause. Fighting behind breastworks, and with all the advantage of fortified position on their side, the Servians should have shown better results than they have. The belief has been steadily gaining that they are cowardly, and afraid to stand up in a fair and equal fight with the Turks. It is even stated that they shot their bravest Russian officers. It really seems as if the proper people to combat with the Turks have not yet come forward, while the Turkish army has been handled with more skill and bravery than was at any time expected. The few fitful battles that may yet take place will probably have no effect on the final result. The Servian war is a failure.

THE Democracy show how much they are worried by the double affidavits in the TILDEN case, by getting up a charge against HAYES that he did not return his property at its full value. This is a legitimate source of inquiry, but the mere declaration that he did not is not evidence in the case. At all events, Mr. HAYES is not accused of swearing against himself. If proof can be obtained that he had a given income, at certain periods in the past, and did not make a proper return, that is one thing; but this has not been done, thus far. The property left him by his uncle did not amount to a large sum, at best, as $40,000 was paid out of it. But TILDEN, as we show elsewhere, distinctly and clearly swore to two different amounts of income in a given year. This is not a question of estimate, but of actual affidavits. Hence an attempt to cast odium on HAYES does not relieve TILDEN from perjury.

ENGLISH JOURNALS are casting about to know just what war power England has at command, in view of the possibility of an outbreak owing to the Turco-Servian war. Her resources and achievements in the past are proudly recounted, as though these were available or influential at the present. Thus it is declared that her record, in the past, when she roused herself to extraordinary efforts, shows that in 1793 England had a fleet of 498 ships of war, and in 1800 its navy had increased to 767 ships. During the war, the English sailors gained five great victories and destroyed or captured 541 foreign vessels. The peace of Amiens was short in duration, and in 1807 the English destroyed the French and Spanish fleets and captured the whole naval force of Denmark. In 1808 the fleet consisted of 869 ships. In 1814 it rose to 961; and from 1802 to 1814 it captured or destroyed 569 foreign vessels. The army in 1800 amounted in numbers to 168,082. In 1804 a volunteer force of 410,000 men was kept up. In 1815, when it was determined to put down NAPOLEON, the regular army numbered 200,000 men. All this is well, in comparison with the condition of the other nations at the time named, but now the great continental powers are developed, as regards military force, until they are prepared to cope against a much greater land force than England can command. The truth is, England has retrograded, in a military sense, of late.

THE Democratic nominees in this county are at their old tricks, and are asking Republican friends to give them complimentary votes. They accompany this request with a deceitful remark, that of course, they do not expect to be elected, and only want a few complimentary votes to place them well up with their colleagues on their own ticket. We warn Republicans against making any such promises, as a Democrat is a Democrat all the time, and supports all his party measures and candidates. In some of the Legislative districts, since the county was thus divided, a very few votes will change the result, and the same is true in one or two of the Senatorial districts. The large county Republican majority is now lost in these districts, owing to their division into smaller political bodies; and hence, if we want Republicans elected, we ought to waste no votes on Democratic nominees as a compliment or otherwise. Our Democratic friends are well up in such methods of securing Republican support, and in one or two districts hope to succeed through this sly device. We trust that no Republican will thus reinforce the enemy, at a time like this, when all hands are expected to be on deck and help administer a wholesome check on the old enemy of progress and genuine reform. Our ticket, throughout, is a good one; and if we want to see it elected, it should receive the support of every voter who believes in the correctness of Republican principles, and hopes to retain that party in power.

THE sentence of death was yesterday pronounced against MYERS for murder. The convicted man, before sentence was pronounced, denied that he was guilty of the crime imputed to him, after which Judge KIRKPATRICK proceeded to deliver an affecting address, and then to pronounced the sentence of the law. This was death by hanging. It sometimes happens that the affecting character of such scenes create a morbid sympathy, which expostulates against capital punishment. With all respect for the motives which inspire such sentiments, we are free to say that we favor, steadily and fully, the enforcement of capital punishment. There is an evident necessity for the enforcement of the law as it stands. When it fell into disuse, the effect was to increase the crime of murder in this county; but since its rigid enforcement, for a year or more past, the number of capital crimes has decreased. Such are the facts, and sad as individual cases may be, the law must be enforced.

TEXAS PACIFIC RAILWAY.

Despite the efforts of several papers to drag this new line of railway into politics, and so hamper and injure it, we have steadily considered it from an industrial and Pittsburgh point of view, and so have favored Government aid for its construction. We hold that the lands thus given are not taken away from settlers,—the railroad increasing at once the value of alternate sections to the full amount demanded by Government or railroad. The road is needed, and the fact that it is not the fraud it has been pronounced, is proven by the circumstances, that through all these hard times, the construction of the road has steadily proceeded without Government aid, and the gross earnings of the road, so far as built, have exceeded one million and a half of dollars, and net earnings of over $670,000, to apply to interest on bonded debt and other obligations. These net results were attained, too, from the operation of but 325 miles, the other 118, which run through the richest and most productive agricultural region of Texas, having been finished within the last fortnight. The income thus derived was more than sufficient, after paying taxes and other general expenses, to take care of the entire interest accruing on the first and the consolidated mortgage bonds, amounting to $25,000 per mile, and the only obligations which the company is bound to provide for, the land grant mortgage of $17,000 per mile being secured upon the munificent donation from the State of Texas, and surplus revenue as may not be needed for other purposes. In a word, the Texas and Pacific Railway is not only solvent in the broadest sense of the term, but has liquidated over ten millions of debt; during the year has adjusted its bonded indebtedness so that it easily earns more than enough to meet the interest charge thereon, and makes a financial exhibit which many an older corporation might envy. The enormous immigration pouring into Texas is developing the resources of the State with unexampled rapidity, and an increase of thirty-five per cent. in passenger travel and ninety-seven per cent. in freight traffic, over the previous year, shows how admirably located the road is to reap the advantages of this influx. Such is the showing of the annual report.

The interest of Pittsburgh, and the country at large, in this enterprise, consists in the impetus the active and rapid prosecution of the road will have on the development of business generally. We have demonstrated, heretofore, that the impetus the construction of that road will give to the iron trade of the country, will prove of large and positive benefit to our industries, and through these, to the industries of the nation. The change the price of oil is already beginning to make, illustrates how one great industry may vitalize many oth-others. Had the Government granted to the Texas Pacific road the aid it asked, on the basis of the franchises it already possesses,—say three years ago, we are firmly of the conviction that the burthen of the panic would be removed, and all would be prosperous through the country to-day. The terms proposed absolutely secured the Government from all danger of being called on to advance interest, as it has had to do in the case of the other Pacific roads. Add to this that it would specially develop the region through which it passes, and we have a full case made. The Southwest is one of the richest portions of our great territorial empire, and its development will add immensely to our national wealth. This is, above all things else, needed. The very battle we are called on to fight, is that against debt,—and the development, by all possible means, of our national resources, whether directly or in conjunction with great railway enterprises, is the duty of the hour. Hence we have favored, in the interest of our Pittsburgh industries, and of our national development, the building of this great highway. We are gratified at the success the efforts made have met with, thus far, and look for complete triumph in the future.

IMPROVING PROSPECTS.

It is well, occasionally, as the canvass progresses, to look carefully at the situation, and determine whether the prospects are flattering and encouraging, or if it is necessary to settle down to severe labor to stem or overcome an opposing current. In politics, as in navigation, careful and frequent observations are often necessary. So, surveying the outlook, as it presents itself at the present, we are of the opinion that all is bright for the Republican party. New York State has been supposed to be the pivot of the electoral vote, and the tendencies in that State are naturally watched with deep interest. At the present, circumstances are undoubtedly against the Democratic party. Whether they can turn the tide will be shown at the reassembling of their convention, on the 13th of September. Whatever the result of that assembling may be, it remains true that at the present they are angered, demoralized and dejected. SEYMOUR is not only the strongest candidate they could put forward in New York, but he served to unite the two factions of the party. A delusive and suspicious peace was patched but cemented and made firm SEYMOUR's nomination. He was recognized as a concession to the KELLY element, and had he been properly nominated it would have harmonized and united the party in that State, at least so far as working force was concerned. But nominating him against his consent while assuring the convention he would accept, and then adjourning, was, in the first place, a deception, and in the second place, taking the power to substitute another nomination from the convention and placing it in the hands of the executive committee, which was a TILDEN and MORRISSEY institution. This was regarded as a piece of trickery, and created intense excitement when it was learned that SEYMOUR never authorized the statement that he would accept.

Thus the reassembling of the old convention, as finally demanded and conceded, will be only to witness a severe battle, the outgrowth of suspicions and jealousies. DORSHEIMER aspired to the Gubernatorial nomination, and was put off with the second place on the ticket. With him the Reform idea sinks out of sight, and it seems evident that a factional fight can only follow, as to which of the two Tammany rings shall be triumphant. If TILDEN and MORRISSEY control the nomination, thus grasping the entire control of future party favor and patronage, it can be set down that the KELLY party will not hurt themselves to elect the ticket. Altogether, it is now freely talked, even among Democrats, that New York is destined to be carried by the Republicans. A fair election in the city of New York alone assures this; and with Tammany divided, it is impossible to pack as many fraudulent votes into New York city as at other times. Hence, to put it at the worst, New York is to-day more likely to go Republican than Democratic.

Indiana and Ohio are what may be termed the moral battle grounds of the canvass,—that is, the real preliminary struggle of the year, will be in those States. Hitherto the Democrats have counted on securing Indiana, but have conceded Ohio to the Republicans. Still, they have been on the alert, ready to make a spring at the latter State, if chance should offer. As the canvass develops, it begins to be apparent that the probabilities favor the Republicans carrying that State. Blue Jeans WILLIAMS at first thought to be a popular candidate among the farmers and country people, because of his unique appearance and plain apparel, proves to be a failure. On the stump he is a hesitating, ineffective speaker, narrow minded, egotistical, ever narrating his achievements in limiting the supply of stationery to members of Congress while he was a member and evidently regarding this very slender performance as a mark of statesmanship. Even the farmers have sounded his depth, and a general and prevailing feeling of disgust has taken the place of the more favorable feeling, and WILLIAMS is apparently doomed. It turns out that ORTH retired, less on account of Valparaiso matters, in which he was really not dishonorably involved, but because of local and personal differences between him and certain of the party leaders. It was thought that this weakened him, and the dangerous and generally unwise expedient was resorted to, of changing front in face of the enemy. It has, however, in this case, proven wise and successful. General HARRISON is very popular, a magnificent debater and political orator, and he has roused the enthusiasm of the party to the highest pitch. Indiana and Ohio are far more sure to the Republican than to the Democratic party. And these gained, the moral influence at work will favor the success of the Republican party.

The only additional specific danger to our success, consists in the danger from Ku-Kluxism at the South. That there is a large and perfectly organized conspiracy to terrorize the blacks, and so far as may be possible, Republican whites away from the polls, is as nearly certain as anything can well be. The Democracy, in an unguarded moment, one of their number being goaded by the Hamburg massacre, adopted, unwillingly and under duress, a resolution to punish the perpetrators of such outrages. The President ordered that this resolution should be given effect by an absolute enforcement, by means of the army, of peace and order at the elections. The details of this arrangement are about effected, and there is to be order, security and fair play at the South, or some very judicious punishing will be promptly attended to. Thus, all in all, the outlook for Republican success is very flattering.

POLITICAL NOTES.

THE loss of "hard times" will take away all the Democratic capital.

WE elected but one old bachelor President, and he nearly broke up the Union.

IT IS now retorted by the Burlington Hawkeye, that, as to bloody shirt waving, if a Democrat waved any kind of one he would have to go naked the while.

A STRAW from the Scientist—On their excursion from Buffalo to Chautauqua Lake, the man with a pencil went around and found 272 for Hayes and 73 for Tilden.

THE Meriden, Miss., Mercury says:—We have got the State; we know how we got it; we know how to keep it, and we are going to keep it without regard to race numerical majority.

BY the way—Mr. Proctor Knott—has anybody heard aught of him since Congress adjourned? If some of his friends will kindly send us the great statesman's address, there is a sick man in the next room we would like to have kicked.—Hawkeye.

THE Auburn Morning News rejects Saratoga cooked crow by taking from the head of its columns the ticket just nominated there, alleging in justification "the traditions of the Democratic party." It complains of a villainous fraud and recalls the convention to complete its work.

Two politicians of Vicksburg, says the Vicksburg Herald, recently discussed the situation thus: Radical Darkey—Up here in dis Dimmekratic meetin' dey keep continnerly talkin' about Tilden, Hendricks and Ree Form. Who is Ree Form? Dat one is one more'n we got in de Raddikkul party. Democratic Darkey—Don't know about Ree Form hey? He's our main man, he is. You Raddikkul niggers nebber does know nuthin'.

SPEAKING of Tilden's management of his State Convention, the New York Herald says: "He need not have lost his courage with his presence of mind, and have permitted signal guns of distress to be fired in an appeal to the sage of Deerfield (Seymour) to come to the rescue and save the ship. It is a little too humiliating for a great political party to exhibit itself almost under the very eyes of its Presidential candidate in so beseeching an attitude."

THE Nation thinks that Tilden "ought to make a prompt and candid reply" to the charge that he swore to a false statement of his income. What will the Nation think if Mr. Tilden's reply is not candid, as it certainly cannot be prompt? The Nation professes to be puzzled to understand why, "having begun to perjure himself, he should not have continued in the following years, and saved more money"—in other words, as Mr. Tilden is not charged with having committed perjury habitually, there can be no force in the charge that he committed it once. This is as sage as defending a criminal caught with a stolen ham under his coat, by urging that if he was a thief he would have stolen a whole hog.

THE campaign is lost; the party organization and its legitimate purposes remain. But these, too, are in extreme peril, and, under the demoralizing fatuity of the impostor, Tilden, they are in danger of permanent eclipse. His candidacy is an error, a calamity, a fraud. Before the situation becomes more desperate, before the whole future of the party is involved in the disaster of the present, a halt should be sounded. The National Committee ought at once to unite in demanding that Samuel J. Tilden, the pretender in party management and the fraud in political morals immediately retire from the ticket, and leave the party he has so nearly ruined a chance of salvation from ultimate overthrow.—Brooklyn Argus (Dem).

THERE is in fact no phase of Mr. Tilden's financial operations that, thus far, has proved him a candid and honest man. He unquestionably sponged railroads, established a bogus currency, watered the stock of manufacturing companies, and in other ways rapidly augmented a colossal fortune. To these offenses he now stands revealed in the pitiable position of a man who cheated in returning his income for assessment. He made money questionably, and then was too mean to pay the price of its protection; with his talents perverted to fatten on the distresses of corporations and individuals, he resolutely refused to fully support a Government, by his share af taxes due, that he prophesied could not be maintained if a political opponent, in the person of Abraham Lincoln, should be elected. Should such a man be the successor of such a President?—Boston Commonwealth.

"Trifles Light as Air."

A philosopher says, "Planets govern not the soul nor guide the destinies of men; but trifles lighter than straws are levers in the building up of our character." How true this is. A meteor fifteen thousand times as big as the earth may sweep across the heavens without disturbing the moral standing of a man carrying a footbath full of hot water down stairs, when a piece of soap no bigger than a pigeon's egg may lift his heels as high as the hall lamp, drag him all the way down stairs a la wheelbarrow, empty the footbath in his lap, spoil his clothes and ruin his standing in the community until the frightful stories of his unbridled profanity are hushed up.

KANSAS.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

GENTLEMEN:—In former letters I spoke of the abundant wheat crop of this State. The work of threshing has been going on for several weeks, and the yield comes fully up to the expectation of the farmers. Much of the crop has already been sold.

Threshing is done here by ponderous and somewhat complicated machines, some driven by steam, others by horse power. Where the latter power is used ten horses are required. The sheaves are fed in as rapidly as a man can handle them, while the clean grain issues from a spout at the side of the machine ready to be measured and put away. The straw and chaff are carried high up, so that the formation of enormous straw heaps is a work of but little labor.

I have often been astonished at the amount of agricultural machinery used here in almost every process from the breaking of the soil to the finishing of the work as above stated. Hoing corn, or cutting grass with a scythe—except an armful or two for work horses—is rarely done here.

The corn crop of the present year is simply enormous. Men who profess to keep the statistics of the state estimate it at over one hundred millions of bushels. Never before were the ears so long and so heavy, while upland and bottom land seem to be alike good. The price doubtless will be low—perhaps not over twenty cents. But it will not probably be less than that, as this crop in Illinois and Missouri is hardly equal to an average. Here, at that estimate, is $20,000,000 to be added to the wheat, the cattle, the hogs, and other things. This is substantial prosperity, and is in wonderful contrast with the state of things two years ago, when drought, hot winds and locusts turned this country into one broad desolation. So far we have no locusts this year, although they are doing some mischief in Nebraska, about a hundred miles north of us.

Political matters are lively, but there is no serious contest. The Republicans have a good State ticket with a single exception, which will be elected by a majority of 30,000, some say 40,000. George T. Anthony, our candidate for Governor, was formerly editor of the Kansas Farmer, a good agricultural paper, and is an able and honest man. He is not the other editor of the same name who was shot and dangerously wounded some two years ago. That Anthony is not even friendly to the other. General John Fraser, the present Superintendent of Public Instruction, and who was for years President of the Kansas State University, was not renominated, but a Mr. Lemmon was chosen in his place on the plea that the Southwest ought to have a name on the State ticket. It was a monstrous blunder, and one that is much regretted. With that exception the Convention did its work well.

It is yet a mooted point whether Tilden will beat Cooper or Cooper Tilden in Kansas. The contest is a very funny one. Hayes and Wheeler will doubtless have more votes than both the others. But as Tilden is the only real competitor in the race with Hayes, it is probable that the opposition votes will gradually draw to him. The greenback men are in bad humor.

But a more even balance of parties, such as you have in Pennsylvania, is better than this one-sided condition that we have in this State. A party without serious outside opposition is hard to manage. Still, this year, things look well.

ALL HAIL THE OYSTER!

The Slaughter of the Innocents Fully Inaugurated and How the Victim Feels.

September has an "r" in it, and, therefore, the truce between man and the oyster is at an end. Since the first of May the gentle bivalve has passed fair days of repose at the bottoms of the creeks, holding sweet converse with his wives and his pledges of affection, but now his golden dreams are over, and rakes will begin to desecrate his bed.

The oyster is of a calm and placid temper. He is a steady drinker, but yet he is never disorderly. One night a barrel of brandy began to leak in the cellar of a fashionable restaurant, and when the keeper descended he found a large oyster lying in a pool of liquor in a deplorable state of intoxication, and yet that oyster was quiet and well behaved. He was what used to be termed gentlemanly drunk. He lay decidedly aslant, opening and shutting his mouth in a somewhat maudlin way, and smiling benignly on the company. Gentlemen of the old school used very frequently to get in this condition, and when so were often more offensive in their manners than the oyster. Besides, in this case, the brandy came after the oyster, whereas the gentlemen of the old school, and of the new school, too, for that matter, go after the brandy. What could that unhappy oyster do when the tide of brandy rose around him but get drunk. Put the most advanced temperance man in a pool of brandy, and he will necessarily get drunk by absorption, in spite of his temperance principles. He was as morally irresponsible as the temperance twin of the Siamese compact. For the wicked Eng used to drink the whisky, and Chang got drunk. The oyster is a creature of staid and conservative principles. He is never led off by any new-fangled notions or captivating isms. His shell is hard, and thus he is impervious to new ideas. When the oysters are torn from their native rocks and butchered to make a Roman holiday, they never murmur or lament. They come up smiling, and say Ave! morituri te salutant. He is always welcome; for a little, little breakfast, he reveals all his finer emotional and moral qualities, when broiled and laid on toast; for a little lunch, raw, lying within his own pearly residence, with just a touch of lemon juice; at dinner he presents himself in many captivating guises; and, at a late supper, wicked and carnal-minded men take unholy delights in him roasted in the shell. From September first to April thirtieth, the oyster is slain by thousands, tens of thousands and millions. The walrus and the carpenter are equally his foes, and he has no one to defend him. He has a heart; his case is very hard.

THE WAY HE DID BUSINESS.

A Teutonic Dealer in Liquids Throws Away a Grand Opportunity.

As a Bates street saloon-keeper was yesterday morning wishing that some one would come in and offer to bet him one to five that the temperance ticket would be elected, a well-dressed stranger walked in, lit his old cigar-stub at the gas jet, and then said:

"My name is Deerfield. I have just purchased a residence here, and am about to establish a wagon shop employing three thousand men."

"Well, that's good, replied the man behind the bar.

"I always patronize some one saloon," continued Mr. Deerfield. "I suppose my patronage amounts to about $12,000 per year, and it is cash on the nail."

"Glad to see you—very glad," replied the saloonist, trying to look very pleasant.

"I operate this way," said the stranger, sinking his voice a little; "I enter a saloon as I have entered yours, ask for a bottle of wine and a box of cigars, and then walk out without paying. If called back, I say that I am absent-minded; if allowed to go, I send the man a check for five hundred dollars, give him a diamond pin on Christmas, and allow him to make thirty per cent. profit on all bills. I'll go out, wait till I see three or four fellows in here, and then I'll come in after my usual style. You must pretend astonishment, and it will be as good as a side-show for the crowd."

The bar-tender's lower jaw had been steadily falling all the while, and when the stranger ceased speaking a dark shadow stole along the counter, made a rush for Mr. Deerfield, and reached the outside door only a foot behind him. Mr. Deerfield didn't return to carry out his promme.—Free Press.

When Men Are at Their Best.

Dr. Beard states that from an analysis of the lives of a thousand representative men in all the great branches of the human family, he made the discovery that the golden decade was between 40 and 50; the brazen between 20 and 30; the iron between 40 and 60. The superiority of youth and middle life over old age in original work appears all the greater when we consider the fact that all the positions of honor and prestige—professorships and public stations—are in the hands of the old. Reputation, like money and position, is mainly confined to the old. Men are not widely known until long after they have done the work that give them their fame. Portraits of great men are delusions; statues are lies! They are taken when men have become famous, which, on the average, is at least twenty-five years after they did the work which gave them their fame. Original work requires enthusiasm. If all the original work done by men under 45 were annihilated, they would be reduced to barbarism. Men are at their best at that time when enthusiasm and experience are almost evenly balanced. This period, on the average, is from 38 to 40. After this the law is that experience increases, but enthusiasm decreases.

DOWN IN THE BONANZA.

Fifteen Hundred Feet Under Ground in Nevada, and What may be Seen There.

It takes only five minutes. You may step on the stage and the hand that guides the Titan at the surface touches the rein of his black monster and you are plunged into the utter gloom. The cage stops and you are more than a quarter of a mile below the busy city; from the dusty highway you have stepped into the world's grandest treasure-house; you have passed from the tropical zone in a minute—you are in the bonanza.

It is no little thing to work a mine 1,500 feet below the surface. True, there are broad avenues; broad timbers which, like Atlas, seem competent to support a world; there are engines at work and cars running; but every glimpse of the men reveals the exertion necessary to keep up this conflict with the spirits that guard the buried treasure below. The men are stripped to the waist, those brawny delvers, with perspiration bursting from every pore.

It looks pleasant down there in the mimic streets and under the lantern's glare, but before those streets were opened there was in the stifling air a work performed that cannot be calculated. Picks were swung, drills were struck, powder burned, men fainted and fell in their places, but the work went on. So it will proceed in the future, until, probably, after another sixteen years, they will be working 3,000 feet below the surface.

Blasted Ambition.

He was a small man, says the Danbury News, but a perfect reservoir of liquor and language. From 9 o'clock until 11 o'clock, last Saturday night, he carried an eye full of blood about Danbury. He brought up finally in front of McGoffin's saloon, and a small rabble soon gathered about him, awed by his prowess. He was perfectly willing to meet anybody and "whale lightning out of him," but what he particularly craved was the presence of that man in all Danbury who cherished an impression that he could lay him out.

"Where's the man who thinks he can lay me out?" he screamed. Then he would yell: "Whoop!" as a sort of postscript, and spring up into the air.

The crowd stared at him in dismay. He was, without doubt, what he claimed to be, "a regular snorter." He had just delivered the challenge and P. S., and was jumping backwards and squaring off at ten thousand men at once, when Steve Irving appeared, on his way home with a basket of groceries. Steve is a broad-chested man, and of a height that would make him invaluable in case of a sudden and disastrous flood.

"Are you looking for me?" inquired Steve, in a tone of hoarse solicitude, as he loomed up above the pugilist.

The little man ceased his manoeuvres, looked up to the bronze face, and promptly explained:

"You keep away from me. I don't know you, and I can't strike a stranger."

Steve smiled grimly, extended the basket of groceries to the warrior, bade him take hold of it, which he did with alacrity, and directed him to start on ahead.

"What's this for?" asked the fighter, having all he could do to keep up under the burden.

"I want you to carry it home for me," was the unexpected reply of the giant.

"Carry—it—" gasped the gladiator in a bewildered voice—"carry ——"

"Git," said Steve, opening his large hands in a painfully suggestive way.

The rising pugilist hastened ahead with the load, looking as if he very much doubted the stability of the universe.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, September 6, 1876.

In banking circles there is little or nothing that is new to report. Chief interest, at this time, attaches to the business situation, and it is the subject of comment, far and wide, that trade is improving. Those who expected any considerable increase of activity in business and financial circles during the past week have been disappointed. The fall trade has indeed commenced, for the month of August has passed away, but there is but a slight increase, if any, in business, and some even report none at all; at least, that is the opinion of several of our largest banks. It would be pleasant to report a different state of facts, but it is better for all concerned to know what the real condition of the market is, and then "bulls and bears" alike can act as their own fancy or judgment may dictate.

And yet it is simply true that among all classes—bankers and business men—there is a firm and decidedly a more hopeful feeling. Business in some of the seaboard cities is reported to be decidedly more active, and it cannot be long before a like improvement will be manifest here.

The bank discounts were as heretofore, 8@10 per cent. to customers. All good paper is freely taken, and larger offerings would be most gladly accepted. Country bankers send in the largest parcels, and orders for currency are kept up to a considerable amount. The mercantile banks manage to find use for a fair proportion of their money, but most banks have a large idle surplus.

THE ENGLISH IRON MARKET.

English iron reports show no improvement. The correspondent of the Iron Age says that, in no leading branch, perhaps, is the absolute stagnation more apparent than in the cast-steel trade, the leading houses stinting their men to four turns weekly, and in some instances they have wholly closed parts of their works, the manufacturers in this line of business being fully convinced that their trade with the United States is pretty nearly a thing of the past, which is a serious matter to Sheffield, as for a long series of years the Republic was by far its best customer for every description of cast-steel sheets, tool steel, plough plates, etc. At the present time the steel exports of Sheffield to America are confined to very fine tool steel, clock spring sheets, and a few specialties. The other leading feature in the British metal trade is mentioned by the Mining Journal as the stoppage of all Indian orders for the public works on account of the trouble in the silver market, which, as India is one of the largest outlets for the British metal trade, is a heavy blow. The manufacturers have therefore reduced their operations to the lowest scale, and the Journal says that matters can hardly be much worse. All hope of a revival of railway building in India is at an end, on account of the losses sustained by the Indian Government by the depreciation of silver. These losses reach twenty millions of dollars. Iron shipbuilding has been extremely dull in all the leading British districts, in sympathy with the general condition of trade.

DOWN TO "HARD PAN."

There seems to be a good deal more anxiety in business circles to touch bottom than to stay there. On which point the Springfield Republican, speaking of the mills and manufactories which are starting up, or resuming, or increasing production if already in operation, observes, with forecast: "Now a rising market is doubtless very encouraging to the mercantile class, but, taking all kinds of business together, we must make up our minds to do business for a long time on the bottom itself, and shall find the healthiest prosperity in that stratum. There is a large class of the community which hasn't got down to it yet, and this class will continue to strew the year with wreckage and debris. The exchangers are yet too large a class, so slowly do people learn that they cannot live by mere swapping. Consolidation and rougher methods of extinguishment are slowly contracting the middle class, and driving back the surplus of more productive labors. Those who remain, by the law of the survival of the fittest, will do a larger business at a smaller percentage of profit, to the mutual advantage of themselves and the public."

OUR NEW LOAN IN ENGLAND.

Through Kernan's London news agency we learn that applications for large amounts of the new 4½ per cent. funded loan of the United States still continue to be received in London. The Financier says the Americans are amply warranted in issuing the loan, and that there are numerous applications from investers of every degree. The Morning Post says that the new loan continues to be written for. The Morning Advertiser says that there are prospects for increased demand, and that gold and money may be in better request on account of the new funded loan, which is believed to cause the sale of consols. America saves millions yearly by the conversion. The Standard says the market appears to be supported by parties interested in the new loan and the confidence growing out of this prompt negotiation.

DISCHARGES FROM BANKRUPTCY.

Under the old statute a bankrupt was obliged to apply for a discharge within one year from his adjudication as a bankrupt, but under the statutes as revised by last Congress, he may apply at any time before the case is disposed of by the courts. Section 5,108 of the Revised Statutes, as amended, reads that "at any time after the expiration of six months from the adjudication of bankruptcy, or if no debts have been proved against the bankrupt, or if no assets have come to the hands of the assignee at any time after the expiration of sixty days, or before the final disposition of the cause, the bankrupt may apply to the court for a discharge from his debts. The section shall apply in all cases heretofore and hereafter commenced.

THE EASTERN COAL TRADE.

A saving of $40,000,000 per annum in our annual consumption of coal must prove a most important contribution toward the recovery of a wide range of industries, and to the amelioration of the condition of the working classes. It leaves that amount more to be expended on other products, and makes possible a large extent of production which has been hindered by the too great cost of steam power. It will give a new vitality to the machine shops and the factories of the country; and that effect will in turn contribute toward reviving the now prostrate coal trade.—N. Y. Bulletin.

CALIFORNIA BUILDING RAILROADS.

—The San Francisco Bulletin says that without much noise, yet none the less effective, there is going on in California this Centennial year more constructions of railroads than in any previous period of the State's history. Nor is this construction of railroads confined to one section. In northern, southern and middle California railroads are in progress which will tend in a short period to the further development of the State's resources. There is more railroad work going on in California at this time than in any other State in the Union.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, September 5, 1876.

There is a fair degree of activity in general business, although it is not up to what it usually is at this particular time, and moreover, there is plenty of room for improvement. The Foreign Wheat Market.

From Robt. Makin & Sons' (Liverpool) Circular of August 15:

We have merely to repeat that the influence of the finest possible weather, extending rapidly the operations of harvest from the midland to the northern districts of the kingdom, has the natural effect of further depressing the condition of trade. Already the millers are seeking at home their supplies of new wheat, old being comparatively neglected. In two or three weeks some reliable information will be given as to the yield, in regard to which there are, however, sundry complaints, though the fineness of quality and natural weight are generally approved of. Observations on these points are, however, less favorable in France, where the wheat crops in the south and southwest are reported unsatisfactory, and in some other parts the excessive heat has matured the grain while in a state of pulp. In the north the harvest remains to be gathered, and in fact appears to be little if at all more forward than in the earlier sections of our own country. At the close of the week most wheat markets are 1s per quarter cheaper. Off coast prices are again more steady, the number of cargoes for sale being now limited.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, September 5, 1876.

The market continues unsettled and prices irregular, in consequence of which business is considerably restricted. Crude was very irregular to-day, fluctuating from $3,83¾ to $3,95 for United certificates; immediate shipment was offered at $3,95a1, with the pipe line asking $4,15. The general tone of the market was steady; however, there appeared to be more offered than was wanted; refiners generaly have been buying sparingly for some time past.

Refined also irregular; Philadelphia and Baltimore at 25¾a26 asked, with resales of contracts reported at 25. Prices on cars here to home trade, 23c.

The Barrel market continues unchanged; countries, $1,30; city make, $1,45a1,50.

Progress of Summer Packing.

The Chicago Daily Commercial Bulletin says: Larger receipts and lighter shipments left a larger supply of hogs for packing, while lower prices caused more activity in packing operations. The quality of the hogs coming forward was generally very fair, the average for the month of August being fully 20 lbs heavier than the same month last year, while the average weight for the six months since the close of the regular packing season is 12 lbs per hog heavier than for the same time last season—the weights being 229.17 lbs against 218.04 lbs. The premium for light bacon grades still continues. The principal manufacture of our packers being of English meats, consequently the principal demand from packers is for light hogs, while heavy weights sell comparatively slow. Packers seem to be very cautious in operating, not showing any disposition to accumulate any stock, future meats generally selling at a slight discount, while the prospect of a liberal corn crop and lower prices for hogs seems to deter them from active operations. Now that the regular packing season is drawing nigh some operators are discussing the probable opening prices of hogs for the season, but as yet we hear of no actual sales for future delivery. Rumors of a sale of 5,000 hogs to be delivered at Cincinnati during November and December at $4 ℔ 100 lbs were current on 'Change on Wednesday, and the names of both buyer and seller given, but we see no confirmation of the sale in any of the Cincinnati papers, and would not vouch for its authenticity—merely giving the rumor, and allowing our readers to judge for themselves. Several of our packers have expressed a willingness to contract freely for the same delivery at the same price if sellers can be found. In this connection we make the following extract from the Cincinnati Price Current: 'A western pork-packer, now giving his attention to game on the Kansas prairies, writes that Kansas is surprisingly full of hogs and corn, and that feeders mention $4 as the price at which they are willing to make contracts for next winter's supply, but which the writer regards as too high.

The packing to date aggregates about 867,600 hogs against about 575,000 hogs to date at this time last year, and a total packing of 728,781 during last summer. The packing at Cedar Rapids to date is 70,812 hogs, against 51,318 to date last year.

Chicago Seed Market.

There was a moderate demand for prime timothy and prices were steady, but for common grades there was little inquiry. The offerings consisted largely of the latter, for which the market ruled dull. Sales were made at $1,30a1,55 for common to good, $1.60 for prime, and $1,70 for choice. Clover was in fair supply and rather slow sale. Quotable at $7,50a7. Prime flax sold readily at $1,25; quotable at $1a1,20 for common to good. For the other descriptions the market remains unchanged.

RIVER NEWS.

State of the Rivers, Movements of Steamboats, &c.

NAVIGATION continues suspended, and there is not much prospect of an early resumption. There is nothing doing at the landing except repairing tow boats.

PILOTS report 3 feet in the chute at Cumberland and 4 feet over the dam.

IT is the tug Exchange (not Capt. Kirker's Exchange) that is aground at Eight-mile.

CAPT. TOM VOORHEES, an old steamboatman, has gone into the commission business in St. Louis, with T. Kircher & Co.

CASTELLO'S boat, Hiram Watson, which had sunk above Ironton, was raised Friday, and went on the Valley Docks at Ashland.

THE Chesapeake is high and dry on Sand Creek. The Katydid will take the Chesapeake's place until the W. P. Thompson comes out.

COL. PECK will take the C. K. Peck to the Upper Missouri, where he will run her in carrying out a Government transportation contract.

THE Erie No. 9 came off and the Robert Mitchell went on the Cincinnati Ways Saturday morning. The Shannon will be let off the ways the middle of this week.

CAPT. ANDREWS says he is nearly through with the work of wrecking the Mary Bell. A little cotton is still found, but there is very little yet left to be done.

CAPT. T. C. WALKER, of the Sacramento River steamer Alice Garnet, has presented Capt. Jas. Good, of the M. V. T. Co., with a $300 gold watch and chain.

R. C. MASON commands the Mead; she leaves Yankton to-day for Ft. Pierre and the Black Hills on her third trip. She gives through bills to Crook City and Deadwood.

THE St. Louis Republican says: There is a bare possibility that the C. K. Peck and the Fontenelle may make a run from this port to the Upper Missouri, starting this week.

THE E. A. Woodruff is working her way down the river. She removed a snag above the Hanging Rock wharfboat Saturday morning, and arrived at Portsmouth Saturday evening.

CAPT. JAS. S. WISE entered upon his duties as Treasurer of Hamilton Co., Ohio, on Monday. He will continue to superintend the business of the Cincinnati and Memphis Packet Co.

CAPT. S. B. COULSON telegraphed to Helena, Montana, August 24, from Yankton, that he was ready to undertake the construction of the Helena & Benton Railroad, and that he will build and completely equip it for $700,000.

CAPT. JAS. P. CLARK has retired from the steamer C. W. Mead, and now commands the E. H. Durfee. Captain John Todd, retiring from the Durfee, has gone to Yankton to build marine ways to repair Coulson's and other boats.

THE John L. Rhoads did not get away from Evansville till noon Saturday. The Evansville Courier explains her getting aground thus: She in do an attempt to run the channel on the Indiana side, starting fairly from the point of the dam, but before reaching the foot of Walnut street she got into shallow water, soon striking the reef opposite the foot of Locust street. She was drawing 5 feet, and as there is full 9 feet to mark twain down the Kentucky shore, we are somewhat surprised to see her risk a new channel on a falling river.

AFTER enumerating the pool lines of steamers running from New Orleans to Red River, Ouachita River, and St. Louis, a recent number of the New Orleans Times says of the Ohio trade: The above is another great produce feeder to our city, and has numbering among its carriers some of the finest boats afloat. There are some twelve good and substantial boats in the trade. They have been running for several years, every man for himself, and of course, competition has been high, and the results not as gratifying to the owners as they ought to be. A few of the boats have made money, but not enough for the amount invested. We noticed in a late Cincinnati paper that a movement is on foot to form a Pool Line the same as the St. Louis boats are working under, but some of the owners of the boats are hesitating, and it will probably fail to be accomplished.

The Fair Oaks Dedication.

We were in error yesterday when we said the Presbyterian chapel was dedicated on Sunday, at Fair Oaks station, Fort Wayne Railroad. It is a Baptist chapel—a very pretty cut stone building, beautifully finished and furnished, and in every respect a model rural church. And to the credit of the residents of Fair Oaks, let it be added that their little church was dedicated free of debt. The dedicatory sermon was preached by R. W. Pearson, D. D., in the afternoon, and the Rev. B. F. Woodburn preached in the evening. The Revs. Allison, Vancleve and Mulford, assisted in the exercises. The music by the choir, composed of T. B. and B. M. Everson, Mrs. Woodward and Miss Annie King, was one of the delightful features of the exercises, and aroused the admiration of the large audience present. Mr. John Q. Everson was the organist, but his extreme modesty forbids compliments. It has been a very gratifying fact to the good people of Fair Oaks that they received much kindness and help from their neighbors and friends in the city and Sewickley.

A Daring Robbery.

Henry Velthauer, a German, went into a saloon on Fourth avenue, below Market street, on Monday evening, in a state of semi-intoxication. The place is, or rather was, kept by James Quinn. Velthauer had four one hundred dollar bills in his possession, and going up to the bar asked Mrs. Quinn to change one of the notes for him. He alleges that Mrs. Quinn drew the note towards her and let it fall among some glasses behind the bar. He leaned over the counter to secure it when he was seized by James Quinn, the husband, and held while Mrs. Quinn, as he alleges, hit him over the head with a "bung starter." He was finally rescued by some citizens, and made his way to the Mayor's office. He found his pocket book on the floor of the tavern and concluded that he had lost all his money, but a search revealed the fact that he had placed $300 in his boots. He made an information against Quinn and his wife for the larceny of $100, but when the officers went in search of them they could not be found. It is understood that they went to Philadelphia.

Hymeneal.

Yesterday afternoon at five o'clock, a pleasant event of an hymeneal character transpired at the spacious residence of Mr. John Burgess, on the Perrysville road, Allegheny city. The principals in the connubial copartnership were Mr. John M. Lyon and Miss Essie S. Burgess,—one of our sister city's beautiful and vivacious belles. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. E. B. Snyder, the bride and groom being unattended, and the service being marked with an elegant simplicity, which made it all the more enjoyable to those who were present. The congratulatory scenes were supplemented with the wedding feast and social interchanges which delightfully whiled away a couple of hours. Shortly after seven o'clock the happy pair left on the train for an Eastern sojourn, in which the Centennial Exposition will form a leading feature.

Our young friends, who have thus commenced the journey of the years together are eminently deserving of all the good wishes, of which they were the grateful recipients. The groom is a young gentleman of fine abilities, energetic habits, and one of the trusted and efficient employes of the Pennsylvania Company; the bride is one who unites to charms of person the graces of a happy disposition, that has made her a favorite among all her associates. We extend the compliments of the season, with the sincere wish that the beauty and brightness of Nature on their wedding day may be but typical of the happiness which shall attend them throughout their connubial sojournings.

MUNICIPAL PROPERTY.

How It is Cared for in Allegheny

The Allegheny Committee on City Property held a meeting last night in the office of the City Clerk, Mr. Slack in the chair. The contract for supplying the city with coal during the coming winter was awarded to Nelson & Patterson at six cents a bushel. The other bidders were Wettengill & Gormley, 6 9 10 cents; John Carlin & Co., 7 cents, and Lee & Hamilton 7 4 10 cents. The Building Committee was directed to require the contractors to carry out the full intent of the plans and specifications for the construction of the Hope Engine house, and ordered to pay no estimates until the contract is completed. The committee instructed at a previous meeting to ascertain what it would cost to paint the Market House reported that the lowest bid they had received was $175. The Controller was authorized to advertise for proposals. In addition to the above, the Standing Committee was directed to have the tin and wood-work of the Market House put in good order, and also to repair the flooring of the stalls of the Columbia Engine house.

SCHOOL AFFAIRS.

Allegheny Music Teachers Assigned—A Good Humored Encounter.

The Board of School Controllers of Allegheny City failed to meet last night, owing to the want of a quorum. The presence of thirty-four members is necessary to the transaction of business. Thirty-three were on hand and waited half an hour and more for the other man but he failed to appear. Those present, however, informally assigned the new music teachers, Professors Snodgrass and Martin, the former to the Western and the latter to the Eastern district. The local boards in wards where teachers may not have been confirmed by the Controllers were instructed to assign them and wait until the next meeting for their confirmation. Dr. Hamilton and Alderman Smith had a brief rencontre as to whether the election of Prof. Hemphill to the Superintendency of school No. 2, in the Third ward, was not a tacit confession of the failure of lady Principals. The former maintained that it was, and the latter held otherwise. Mr. Hobson intimated that the reason why the Third ward board chose to elect Mr. Hemphill was not any of Dr. Hamilton's business. The war cloud was growing portentous when a member moved an adjournment, which was carried. The Board will meet again next Tuesday evening.

SAD CASUALTY.

Two Pittsburghers Drowned at Cape May

A special telegram received in this city yesterday afternoon, from Cape May, announces the drowning at that place of Mr. Wm. H. Norris and John D. Marvin, Esq., both of this county. The telegram contained no facts as to the cause of the accident.

Mr. Marvin read law in the office of John Barton, Esq., and as soon as Mr. Barton heard the sad intelligence, he telegraphed to Cape May to have the bodies of both men, if recovered, properly embalmed and forwarded to this city, but at last accounts the bodies had not been recovered.

Mr. Norris was a nephew of Mr. A. Pillow, a former Commissioner of this county, and was by profession a school teacher. He was about twenty-four years of age and was highly esteemed by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. Mr. Marvin was a son of Anthony Marvin, near Tarentum. He was about thirty years of age, a graduate of Washington college, and a thorough scholar. He first studied for the ministry but left it for the law, studying in the office of Mr. Barton as stated above, and since he was admitted has been in the office with Mr. B. His many friends will learn of his untimely calling off with deep regret. Both young men left the city Monday morning with Smythe's excursion, and we are informed that Mr. Barton cautioned Mr. Marvin, who was an expert swimmer, to be extremely careful if he went into the ocean to bathe, as there was great danger to those not acustomed to sea bathing.

Court Brevities.

WM. HANEY entered a plea of nolo contendere to an indictment for assault and battery.

MR. M. T. McCORMICK, of Butler, filed a petition in bankruptcy, which was referred to Register Maxwell, yesterday.

BOTH U. S. Courts were engaged yesterday in making voters. About seventy-five was the result of yesterday's work.

JOHN ENGLEHART, a tardy witness, having detained the Court just five minutes, was fined just that many dollars.

JUDGE KIRKPATRICK held a special session of Common Pleas Court No. 1 after three o'clock, at which about twenty-five persons were naturalized.

DR. C. C. HUSSEY, a juror in the Criminal Court, failing to respond at roll-call yesterday morning, the Court directed an attachment to issue, and imposed a fine of twenty-five dollars on him.

JOHN M. STRAUB and Owen Woods, jurors who were in the box when Court took a recess for twenty minutes were not in their places when Court reconvened, Straub being five minutes late and Woods eight, were fined in accordance with announcement of the Court in the morning, one five and the other eight dollars.

IN the case of the Commonwealth vs. John Turner, tried in the Quarter Sessions yesterday, a Mrs. Wallace testified that she had offered the prosecutor $50 to compromise the case. The Court stopped her, and inquired whether she knew that she was guilty of a misdemeanor, and warned her not to interfere with matters of that kind any more, as it was even then at the discretion of the District Attorney to have her indicted.

AT the opening of Court yesterday morning, Judge Ewing announced that jurors not immediately engaged in the trial of a case would be allowed one-half hour for dinner each day, while those engaged on a case would have twenty minutes. He had taken occasion at one time to calculate the amount a tardy juror or witness costs the county when he keeps the Court waiting, and he had figured it up at about a dollar a minute, and this was the rule, that each juror or witness who kept the Court waiting would be taxed.

MEYERS SENTENCED.

Motion for a New Trial Over Ruled—An Alien on the Jury—The Case to be Carried to the Supreme Court.

At two o'clock yesterday Frederick Meyers, convicted of murder in the first degree for the killing of Adam Dorn, at Philo Hall, was brought into the Criminal Court room for sentence. Judge Kirkpatric, before whom the case was tried, and who was on the bench with Judge Ewing, directed the crier to open the court of Oyer and Terminer, an unnecessary proceeding, as that court is always open when the Quarter Sessions is open, and ready for business, provided there are two of the Judges on the bench.

Messrs. Coyle and Reardon, of counsel for Meyers, filed new reasons for a new trial, setting forth that since the argument on the motion for a new trial counsel for the prisoner had discovered that Thomas Scott, one of the jurors in the case, was not a citizen of the United States, but an alien at the time of the trial. In support of this statement were affidavits setting forth that Thomas Scott had, since the trial of the case, applied to the Common Pleas Court and obtained his naturalization papers, and a copy of the petition presented by Scott asking the Court to grant his papers. The motion was argued by Messrs. Reardon and Coyle and overruled by the Court.

Judge Kirkpatrick then directed the prisoner to stand up and in the usual form inquired if he had anything to say why the judgment of the law should not be pronounced upon him. The prisoner replied that he had and in a clear and distinct tone stated that he was not guilty of murder, that he had no intention to injure the old man, not even a little, and before God, and the court he had no intention to commit murder when he inflicted the injury which resulted in the death of Adam Dorn. He had kept the old man for years and had been as solicitous of his welfare as a father could be of a son and could not have had any intention to take his life.

Judge Kirkpatrick, without any reference to the remarks of the prisoner, proceeded with his remarks pertaining to sentence, referring to the able and zealous manner in which the counsel had conducted the case, and concluding as follows: Your offence is the wilful, deliberate and premeditated killing of a fellow being. The penalty is most justly death. Let us, therefore, beg and entreat you, as we do, to rightly and wisely improve every moment of the brief life which may yet remain to you in this world, in making full and complete preparation for the eternity which awaits you in the world to come. Prepare we implore you, to meet your God in judgment and cast yourself, with all your troubles, and all your sorrows upon the bosom of a loving and compassionate Saviour, whose in the fulness of His great love and in the abundance of His divine tenderness and pity, has said, as He says to-day, to you and to me, and to all the grief and sorrow stricken sons and daughters of men everywhere, "Come unto me, all ye who are weary and heavy laden, and I will give you rest." To Him and His great mercy and compassion we most earnestly commend you.

Frederick Myers—The sentence of the law is that you, Frederick Myers, the prisoner at the bar, be taken hence to the jail of the county of Allegheny, whence you came, and thence, at such time as the Governor of this Commonwealth, by his warrant, may appoint to the place of execution, and that then and there you be hanged by the neck until you are dead; and may God, in his infinite goodness, have mercy upon your soul.

The Judge was considerably affected, and was moved to tears. The prisoner, however, listened to the sentence as coolly and calmly as though it were a nursery rhyme, never removing his eyes from the Judge from the time he commenced speaking until the close, and as he left the court room he turned round andcalmly surveyed the crowd.

THE LEAFY TABERNACLE.

The Interest Increasing.

HOLLOW ROCK, September 4, 1876.

Evening service at young folks tabernacle. Services were well attended, and unusual interest taken. The earnest manner of Rev. Anderson induced 15 young people to come forward this evening, and come into the fold and take a part in the good work going on.

Rev. Lucus put out some strong points to-night at the main stand, and was so well appreciated by the large audience that he held his listeners in awe struck silence during his discourse. This was not only the most quiet and orderly meeting, but the highest toned yet called together.

Dr. Miller closed in a powerful appeal to the audience, and when the altar was cleared for business, the seekers for peace came forward, and a very exciting meeting was held that was enjoyed by all.

SEPTEMBER 5, 1876.

Morning services interesting, made many to feel its influence.

Sermon at 10 o'clock, by Dr. Miller, President of State Camp Meeting Association. It was a deep, logical argument, interspersed with interesting pathos that made it very interesting, not only to the sanctified, but to all lovers of good order and good substantial eloquence.

At the close the altar was filled with mourners and many were deeply interested.

One o'clock—Young folks prayer meeting was well attended, and being the last meeting is this tent, the last sad parting among the many friends of Rev. Hudson, was deeply felt, and many were sorrwful to part with their young preceptor. He goes to West Salem, Ohio, in the morning, to open another meeting of a similar nature to the one just closed.

Two o'clock P. M.—Dr. Mills filled the pulpit this afternoon, and he filled it in the full sense of the word. In pouring forth a torrent of eloquence he told his audience they were trying to worship God through fear of going to hell—too much truth for many that were listeners.

Dr. Mills is an ardent worker here and holds a strong grasp upon his listeners by his truthful example of living up to what he preaches. Last year he labored under a disadvantage and was really not able to do his share of the work, but as we listen to him to day it is easy to perceive that he is in his glory.

Three o'clock.—The crowd is reduced to five or six hundred, but what are left mean business. They are in earnest. H.

CLOUD SKIRMISHING.

The Balloon Ascension Yesterday From the Exposition Grounds—A Gentle Landing at Castle Shannon—Musicical Programme for To-day.

The sixth aerial flight of Prof. Gilbert from the Exposition grounds was made yesterday afternoon. On this occasion he was accompanied by an intrepid representative of the GAZETTE, who made his initial trip to the regions above the earth. At the first attempt the balloon was successfully started. The basket struck the fence, but not heavily, and then the vessel shot upward and continued to ascend until it had reached an altitude of about one mile. When above the Point bridge it stood still for some time, with the exception of a few turns forced by the wind. After leaving the city the direction it took was over the proposed new inclined plane, on the south side of the Monongahela, where it reached an additional height of a quarter of a mile. It was then carried by the veering wind about three miles to the northwest, where another air current was encountered. Promptly adjusting itself to the latter the balloon proceeded in the direction of Mt. Oliver. While sailing thither the travelers forgot the ecstatic feelings that possessed them long enough to survey the picture that lay spread out in panoramic beauty far below. Among its noteworthy features was the town of Freeport, which was clearly visible on the Allegheny river, in Armstrong county, twenty-eight miles above the city. The air-ship followed the course of the Castle Shannon railroad, at no time being more than half a mile from it, until within that distance of Castle Shannon station. When within about a mile of the point where a landing was effected, the Professor pointed out in the distance a large green field as the place he had selected at which to again plant himself on terra firma. Upon observing that we were endeavoring to land the residents of that neighborhood, men, women and children, on foot and on horseback, shouting, followed the course of the balloon for nearly a mile. The descent in the field was accomplished so easily and gradually as to be almost imperceptible. It proved to be an invasion of Democratic territory, but it was so gentle and noiseless that the big-hearted farmer who advocates Tilden and Hendricks could not characterize it as an effort on the part of the denizens of the regions of space to frighten him from his allegiance to his principles. It was on the farm of Mr. Samuel Cooley, Democratic candidate for County Commissioner, that the descent was made. He invited the passengers into his residence to partake of refreshments, which they were reluctantly compelled to decline, owing to a lack of time and a desire to reach the city. When the drag-rope touched the earth it was caught by several persons who pulled the balloon about five hundred rods through the air to the railroad station, where Mayor McCarthy, who happened to be there, was pressed into service and assisted in towing it to the place of stoppage. At the station was a train of cars, which had left the city about five minutes after the ascension of the balloon. The latter arrived at Castle Shannon ten minutes before the cars, and after having traveled a circuit of twelve miles, which is twice the distance accomplished by the train. Professor Gilbert and the GAZETTE representative stepped from the balloon, and then some of the ladies who had gathered to witness and welcome its descent were treated to captive ascensions to a height of about six hundred feet. Among those who made trips were Miss Ella Rheiter and her brother, the Misses Easton, Mrs. Baxter, Miss Ludwick, Miss Wheeler and a little daughter of Milton Hays, Esq. Some were accompanied by Mr. Gilbert and others were not. The approach of darkness prevented more than seven ascensions. Mr. Gilbert says that he is under obligations to all the parties who rendered him assistance, but he is particularly so to Mr. Jay Patterson and Mr. Redman, ticket agent of the Castle Shannon railroad. The air ship was packed, put on the train, and at eight o'clock last night the aeronauts arrived in this city.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

J. R. & A. Murdoch, Florists, &c.

We offer for fall planting fifty acres of the finest and healthiest trees ever grown in Western Pennsylvania. Persons wanting extra sized trees of Pear, Cherry, Apple, Plum, &c., of fruits, or Ornamental Trees, Shrubbery, Vines, &c., should visit our extensive nurseries on Forbes street, Twenty-second ward, and make their own selections, which our wagons will deliver around the city or at any of the city depots or landings, free of carriage. Trees thus taken fresh from the ground, especially when of a large size, possess a great advantage over those brought a long distance, and when promptly planted are almost certain to grow.

OUR FLORAL DEPARTMENT is equally extensive, with 17 large greenhouses, three of which (each 100 feet long by 20 feet wide) are in the Twenty-second ward, and devoted entirely to the growing of rare and beautiful Rosebuds, Carnations, Tuberoses, Pansies Stepanotis, Callas, Bouvardias, Lilliums and Double Primulas; two houses exclusively for Camillia Japonicas; and others for Painsettas and miscellaneous flowers; we grow perhaps three or four times as many flowers as all the other city florists combined. These flowers we arrange on the shortest notice in any desired style. Our long experience enables us to guarantee satisfaction in all work entrusted to us, from the most elaborate decoration of the mansion on a festive occasion to the wreath of snow-white purity that is placed on the coffin of a departed friend.

Our city store is No. 112 Smithfield street opposite the Postoffice, where everything pertaining to Flowers and Seeds may be found, including Gold Fish, Canary Birds, Flowers, Baskets, Vases, Holland Bulbs, Hyacinth Glasses (in their season), decorated Flower Pots, &c., &c.

VEGETINE

Purifies the Blood, Renovates and Invigorates the Whole System.

Its Medicinal Properties are

ALTERATIVE, TONIC, SOLVENT AND DIURETIC.

VEGETINE is made exclusively from the juices of carefully selected barks, roots and herbs, and so strongly concentrated that it will effectually eradicate from the system, every taint of Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor, Tumors, Cancer, Cancerous Humors, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Syphilitic Diseases, Canker, Faintness at the Stomach, and all diseases that arise from impure blood. Sciatica, Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gout and Spinal Complaints, can only be effectually cured through the blood.

For Ulcers and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, Pustules, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tetter, Scaldhead and Ringworm, VEGETINE has never failed to effect a permanent cure.

For Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints, Dropsy, Female weakness, Leucorrhoea, arising from internal ulceration, and uterine diseases and General Debility, VEGETINE acts directly upon the causes of these complaints. It invigorates and strengthens the whole system, acts upon the secretive organs, allays inflammation, cures ulceration, and regulates the bowels.

For Catarrh, Dyspepsia, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Headache, Piles, Nervous and General prostration of the Nervous System, no medicine has ever given such perfect satisfaction as the VEGETINE. It purifies the blood, cleanses all the organs, and possesses a controlling power over the nervous system.

The remarkable cures effected by VEGETINE have induced many physicians and apothecaries whom we know to prescribe and use it in their own families.

In fact, VEGETINE is the best remedy yet discovered for the above diseases, and is the only reliable BLOOD PURIFIER yet placed before the public.

UNQUALIFIED APPRECIATION.

BOSTON, Nov. 18, 1875.

H. R. STEVENS, ESQ.:

Dear Sir—During the past five years I have had ample opportunity to judge of the merit of VEGETINE. My wife has used it for complaints attending a lady of delicate health, with more beneficial results than anything else which she ever tried. I have given it to my children under almost every circumstance attending a large family, and always with marked benefit. I have taken it myself with such great benefit that I cannot find words to express my unqualified appreciation of its goodness.

While performing my duties as a Police officer in this city, it has been my lot to fall in with a great deal of sickness. I unhesitatingly recommend VEGETINE and I never knew of a case where it did not prove all that was claimed for it. Particularly in cases of a debilitated or impoverished state of the blood its effects are really wonderful; and for all complaints arising from an impure state of the blood it appears to work like a charm, and I do not believe there are any circumstances under which VEGETINE can be used with injurious results, and it will always afford me pleasure to give any further information as to what I know about VEGETINE.

WM. B. HILL,
Police Station 4.

CANNOT BE EXCELLED.

CHARLESTOWN, March 19, 1869.

H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—This is to certify that I have used your blood preparation (VEGETINE) in my family for several years, and think that, for Scrofula or Cankerous Humors, or Rheumatic Affections, it cannot be excelled; and, as a blood-purifier and spring medicine, it is the best thing I have ever used; and I have used almost everything. I can cheerfully recommend it to any one in need of such a medicine.

Yours respectfully,
MRS. A. A. DINSMORE,
19 Russell street.

A Source of Great Anxiety.

My daughter has received great benefit from the use of the VEGETINE. Her declining health was a source of great anxiety to all of her friends. A few bottles of the VEGETINE restored her health, strength and appetite.
